Your Astro-Data

Name: Adele

Birth Date: 05 May 1988

Birth Time: 3:02 PM

Time Zone of Calendar: 1

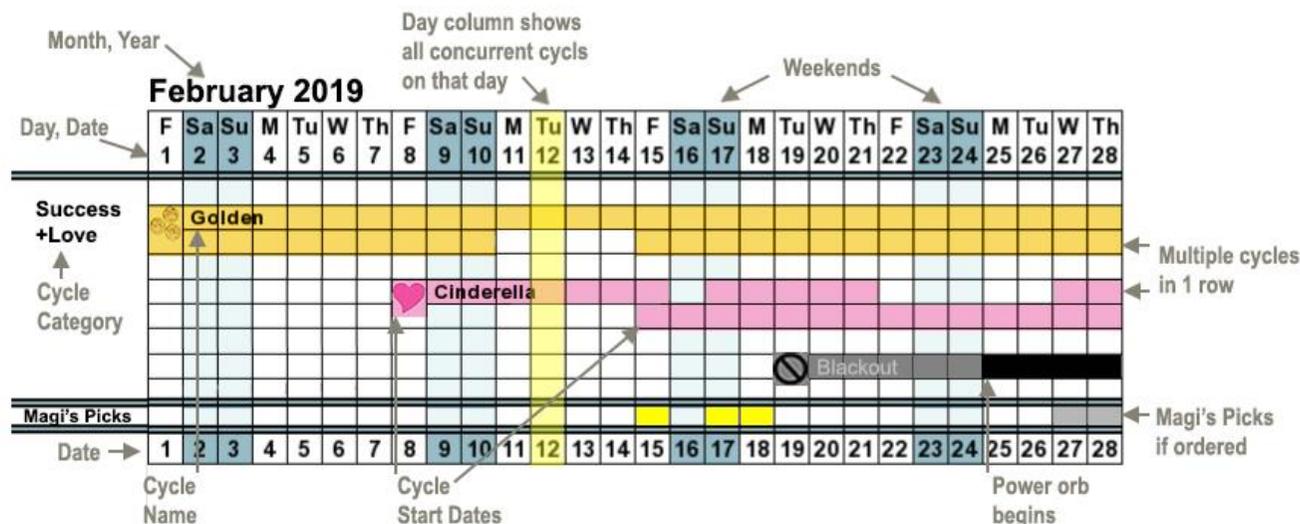

How to use your calendar?

It's all in your Calendar Key. Please read the Key carefully, it starts on the next page. Not only does your Key tell you how to make the most of your great cycles, it's also your survival manual for bad cycles. Everyone has bad cycles at times, learn how to not only survive, but thrive! Star-Timer keys are regularly updated and will answer most questions you may have about your Star-Timer.

Star-Timer Calendar Key

Your Star-Timer Calendar illustrates your personal astrology cycles (transits) for each day. It's a great way to understand the risk-reward potential of taking important actions on each day. Your positive cycles on a day show your potential rewards if you act on that day, your challenging cycles show your potential risks. Your personal Star-Timer shows your personal cycles only. Combine BOTH your personal Star-Timer and Magi Best and Worst Days to really get the timing right!

Quick-Start Guide

Horizontal bars of color = continuing cycles
Each horizontal bar = one cycle

Vertical columns = concurrent cycles for that day
Aqua shaded vertical columns = weekends

Trouble seeing something on your Star-Timer? Adjust your display settings or zoom in your view.

Star-Timer cycles are graphed for noon each day in your residence time zone. Graphed cycles are in effect at or before noon on the day they begin, and until noon or later on their last day. If you see a cycle on a day, it means it was there at noon that day. On the starting day of a new cycle, the new cycle actually started somewhere between 12:01 pm the previous day and 12:00 noon on the day you see it. A blank square right after a cycle means that cycle actually ended somewhere between 12:01 pm the previous day and 11:59 am on the first day it's blank.

Cycle names may be longer than the cycle – your cycle is only in effect when you see the colored bar. If a cycle starts near the end of the month you may see the icon only rather than the cycle name. Grayed-out cycle names at the beginning of month with no colored bar indicate you have none of those cycles for the month.

In Brief:

When your personal stars AND general stars are good, MOVE AHEAD. Don't just wait for things to happen – MAKE THEM HAPPEN. Look ahead to see when your stars are especially good so you can be prepared to maximize them.

When your personal stars AND general stars are bad, WAIT. Don't initiate anything important. Look ahead to see when your stars will be bad so you can get things done beforehand or wait until after bad stars pass.

Success, whether in love or in business/career is built on many layers of smart decisions and right action. The right timing greatly helps you make smart decisions and take right action. The difference between using great timing vs. random timing is that you can accomplish in a lot fewer years what a random person could try for for a lifetime and never get.

Understanding your Star-Timer

Your Star-Timer will help you choose dates for most important actions* and activities to maximize your success and avoid heartbreak or failure. It will show you your very best times when special opportunities are more likely to appear and should be acted upon. It will also show you when to avoid starting important things, and when new people, ideas and "opportunities" that appear are likely to spell disaster. You'll be able to see the long-term view for long-range planning, and also see the best days to utilize each week. You'll see windows of opportunity when you can advance your dreams, and when to take utmost care to be at your best to avoid disaster. Use it to plan all types of meetings (business and romantic; first-time especially, but also subsequent meetings), special occasions, presentations, interviews, submissions, applications, and anything else you really want to succeed. Using your Star-Timer for important activities can create the pace of 'hurry up' and 'wait' which can be frustrating at first. However, habitually using your Star-Timer for your critical timing will soon become a very successful way of life. Important Note*

Your cycles WILL be MIXED! Your calendar reflects life, so your cycles will seldom be perfect - there will almost always be some bad cycles. Life is mixed most of the time, it's almost never perfect, and so are your cycles. The important thing is to understand how to tell which times are better and which times are worse, and weigh that against the relative urgency of what you want to do and how critical the outcome is. It always helps to have a longer calendar, so you can see the longer-term trends. The goal for day-to-day actions is not perfection – it's maximum good, minimum bad. People's cycles being so mixed is why the really needle-in-a-haystack, jackpot days for super-important things like weddings and incorporation dates are so rare.

Focus on the cycles which are relevant to what you want to do. To assess each day, look at all the cycles in the vertical column for that day. Each cycle pertains to different areas of life. Not every cycle pertains to every action. To know which cycles relate to which areas of life, go to Star-Timer Cycles.

For maximum success move forward when you have the most concurrent positive cycles which directly relate to your planned initiative. The various cycles you may see on your calendar may be of greater or lesser importance depending upon what in particular you are planning to do. These "best of the best" days should be chosen for the most important new initiatives, new investments, new meetings, appearances and artistic release dates. These are your most winning days. These are the days to be bold, to shoot for the stars.

The longest cycles are always the strongest cycles. These are indicated by long unbroken horizontal bars. The weakest cycles are cycles which only last a few days. More than one cycle may be graphed per horizontal line to save space- if there is a white gap for one or more days between horizontal colored bars, more than one cycle has been graphed on that line.

Both good and bad cycles can come in cascades – you may have many concurrent good cycles, or many concurrent bad ones, sometimes for months! Make the most of positive cascades and be patient with negative cascades – good stars really do follow bad stars – good times really do follow bad times – and when a negative cascade is finally over you will probably have a break from these cycles for quite a while.

Empty areas in the beginning of the first month or at the end of the last month of your Star-Timer are days which were not part of your order.

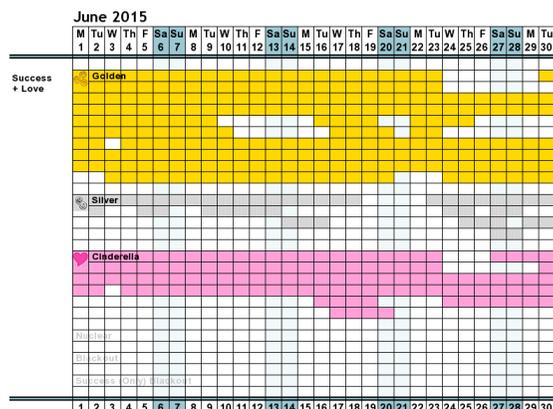

Avoid any significant new beginnings or new meetings during multiple relevant negative cycles if possible, EVEN IF you also have Golden, Silver, Cinderella or other positive cycles. Days with both positive and negative cycles are mixed days, but still can often lead to negative outcomes. Concurrent good and bad cycles DO NOT cancel each other out! All planetary energies have an effect. For example, a business started during concurrent Golden cycles and multiple Blackout cycles might be profitable but might still bring heartbreak in some way.

But.... perfection is rare – in life, and in your calendar. With so many cycles discovered through Magi research and depending on the cycles you ordered, many or even most days can have at least one negative cycle. Don't let negative cycles worry you too much, but don't wish you didn't know about them either! Use this calendar key to understand the strongest possible combinations: days with the most relevant positive cycles and the fewest relevant negative ones. These are your best days available. Since perfection is so rare – the goal is to find and wait for, days which are favorable ENOUGH. More

Days which have multiple Blackout or other negative cycles are your very worst days. On days with multiple negative cycles, or during the last 3 days of the dark portion of a negative cycle and for 1 day after the dark portion ends, avoid doing anything important- you must be especially careful not to make major errors.

Examples:

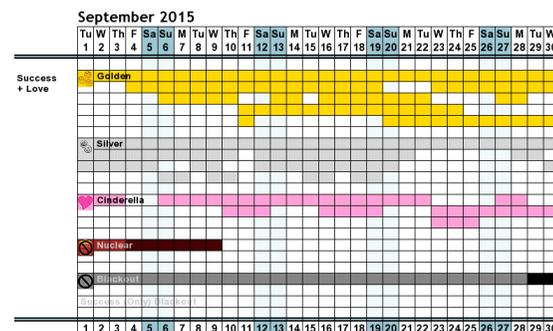

Here are examples of 3 different Success + Love Calendars for comparison purposes. Compare these in general to your calendar to understand the relative quality of the months in your calendar.

A Great Month

This is a much better than average month. There are lots of favorable cycles – many of them long and unbroken for the entire month (the strongest kind of cycle.) No negative cycles at all.

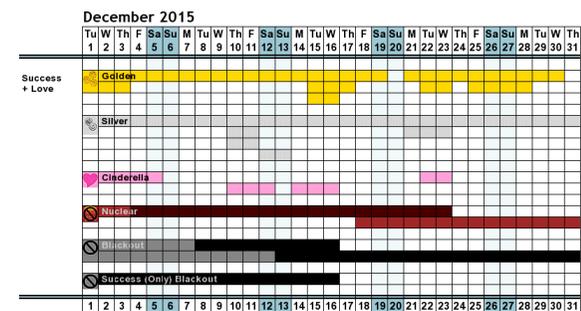

A great month to go for it!

An Average Month

This is what a pretty average month looks like for most people. There are an average number of favorable cycles, and there are some negative cycles.

If you saw this and could wait to do something important that would be preferable, but there are some fairly acceptable days to do those things which can't wait.

A Not-Great Month

This month has fewer than average favorable cycles and multiple negative cycles in the dark (most strongly negative) portion.

This would be a month to wait out – avoid starting something important until your cycles improve!

Star-Timer Cycles

Your Star-Timer does not represent every cycle which could possibly be favorable or unfavorable. It is only a calendar of the particular personal cycles you have ordered.

If you ordered a Custom Star-Timer you may not have all the cycles you need to make important timing decisions. Though it is highly recommended, not everyone chooses to order both the positive and negative cycles which pertain to their areas of interest. If you ordered only positive or only negative cycles, please be aware that your Star-Timer does not represent a balanced view of your concurrent cycles on any particular day. You really need to see all cycles, positive and negative, which influence the parts of life in which you are trying to succeed.

See more cycles you need below? Order here.

Important: Please view your Star-Timer with a sense of proportion!

Everyone's cycles fluctuate dramatically. You may find that your Star-Timer covers a particularly good time in your life, or a particularly bad one. Both good and bad cycles can come in cascades. It is especially difficult to put your cycles into perspective if you have ordered a 3-month Star-Timer. Shorter Star-Timers can't give you the long-term view to really see your best and worst times in the same way that longer Star-Timers can. If your Star-Timer isn't what you hoped for, or if you don't see the combination of cycles you were hoping for, at least you have the knowledge to turn this to your advantage by waiting to start something critically important. Remember – good stars always follow bad stars, and over time, EVERYONE has cycles and combinations of cycles favorable enough to succeed in their objectives and achieve their dreams! More Also, some negative cycles are much more commonly found than their positive counterparts – such as Bad vs. Good Health cycles and “Ugly” vs. Beauty cycles. If you ordered these cycles, you must read these sections of the key carefully to have a balanced understanding of what you are seeing. More

Money Cycles

Golden cycles

Golden cycles are your most winning days for making money. Use these cycles to track your best days for business and financial opportunity. Golden cycles are the best times to meet new people for profit in business, to start a new venture or a new job, to sign important agreements, to start a business, or to launch a product or website for maximum profitability.

Got a business? Use a Success Calendar calculated for your business' Incorporation or LLC date for any important actions you are taking as your business. Get one here.

Silver cycles

Similar to Golden cycles but only one-half as strong.

True Love and Charisma Cycle

Cinderella cycles

During Cinderella cycles, people see you in your best possible light. Your charisma and ability to make a good impression are at a peak. The more concurrent Cinderella cycles you are having, the more charismatic and wonderful you are perceived to be!

In business, Cinderella cycles are the best times to meet new people for greatest acceptance, to sell yourself and your ideas, to go on an interview, to ask for a promotion or a raise, to start a new venture or job, or to launch a product for maximum popularity.

For singles, Cinderella cycles are the times when you can meet your soulmate. For those in a relationship, Cinderella cycles are the times when you can advance the relationship and/or push for greater commitment.

If you are single and want to meet your soulmate

When you are having Cinderella cycles and no Blackout cycles- get out there! Don't waste this special opportunity. Join an online dating site or several, sign up with a matchmaker, accept every invitation you receive, attend events, go places, take classes, ask your friends to set you up, look your best every day and keep your eyes open!

The more concurrent Cinderella cycles you have on a given day, the more likely you are to meet your soulmate on that day. On your very best days, meet as many people as you can. Keep first meetings short – schedule coffee dates, not lunch or dinner dates, to “lock in” the positive stars with as many people as possible. These are also great days to attend singles events for the same reason. Then, even as your Cinderella cycles end, you can take your time deciding which of those relationships are worth developing and which are not.

If you don't meet your Soulmate this time around, don't panic! Everyone has many multiple-Cinderella days in their life. Get ready for the next ones.

Challenging Cycles

Nuclear cycles

Relationships and new initiatives begun under Nuclear cycles, especially multiple Nuclear cycles, are seldom a "fit" for you and you are likely to later find yourself with serious and irreconcilable differences with whatever was begun during these times - Nuclear cycles can create repulsion. Nuclear cycles are also representative of severe bad judgment and planning and are included in Blunder cycles.

The Light Maroon portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Nuclear cycle indicates times when important decisions and important new beginnings are inadvisable. Avoid them if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during a Nuclear cycle, do it during the Light Maroon portion. The Dark Maroon portion (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should do everything you can to avoid such actions and activities.

During Nuclear cycles, especially during multiple Nuclear cycles, the best advice is: Don't start any important new venture, project or job, don't sign any contracts, don't open bank or brokerage accounts, don't do any investing or make any significant sales of investments, don't list real property for sale, don't make any large purchases, try not to meet anyone new, don't launch any product or artistic release.

During Nuclear cycles you may feel more impatient, grumpy, frustrated and alienated. Your life may not feel like it “fits.” However, Nuclear cycles, especially during multiple Nuclear cycles and/or during the dark portion, are the worst times to make major life changes.

One effect of Nuclear cycles is that they will make you more error-prone both in your judgment, your computations, and in your speaking and writing. You can work on projects, but DO NOT pull the trigger or set anything in motion until you have THOROUGHLY revisited the work you did during the Nuclear cycle, and do not do this until you are at least 1 day past the end of the Nuclear cycle. You WILL find errors in your logic or your work and it is crucial that you find ALL errors before you move ahead.

Try not to be too frustrated with negative cycles. They are a part of life, and they would succeed in sabotaging you if you didn't know about them through your Star-Timer. Knowledge of your Nuclear cycles allows you to choose your important dates super-carefully and avoid them. If we don't natalize something during a bad transit, once the transit is over, it's over! Natalizing during bad stars is in effect carrying the bad energy forward with us into the future. More

Blackout cycles (aka Heartbreak cycles), especially multiple Blackout cycles, are worst possible times for almost anything, including meeting new people. Starting anything new or trying to push your agenda during multiple Blackout cycles most often eventually leads to failure or heartbreak – especially during the Black portion of the cycles. Blackout cycles are characterized by bad judgment and people seeing you in your worst possible light. In business, Blackout cycles are the worst possible times to meet new people, to start a new venture or a new job, to invest, to sign important agreements, to incorporate, or to launch a product or website. For singles, Blackout cycles are the times when meeting anyone new is likely to lead to heartbreak. For those in a relationship, Blackout cycles are the times when you could make a critical error and must be on your very best behavior to avoid problems. Despite the fact that days with multiple Blackout cycles are terrible for meeting anyone new, they are highly captivating, which can mean that you could cling strongly to people you meet on these days even though they are not good for you.

The Gray portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Blackout cycle indicates times when the actions and activities below are inadvisable. Avoid them if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during a Blackout cycle, do it during the Gray portion. The Black portion (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should avoid such actions and activities if at all possible.

During multiple Blackout cycles: Don't start any new venture, project or job, don't sign any contracts, don't open bank or brokerage accounts, don't do any investing or make any significant sales of investments, don't list real property for sale, don't make any large purchases, try not to meet anyone new, don't launch any product or artistic release.

During both the Gray and Black portions in all situations, be on your best possible behavior, don't make waves, be agreeable and cooperative, make no major decisions or changes.

Try not to be too frustrated when you have multiple Blackout Cycles. Because you know about them, you can time your efforts so that Blackout cycles can't destroy them. If there were no Blackout Cycles, making money and finding true love would be easy for everyone. Remember that if you don't natalize something during a bad transit, once the transit is over, it's over! Natalizing during bad stars is in effect carrying the bad energy forward with you into the future.

Make the most of your winning days with no Blackout Cycles and then wait patiently for your next window of opportunity whenever possible. Knowing when to advance your interests and when to wait is one of the keys to both success and wisdom. Understanding your own timing allows you to become one of the rare few who really succeed and fulfill your dreams.

Be patient, this time isn't wasted. Use your Blackout cycles to prepare for your Golden and Cinderella cycles. You can work on plans, strategies, projects of all kinds, work on yourself, learn new skills, etc. but with a GIANT caveat: DO NOT pull the trigger or set anything in motion until you have THOROUGHLY revisited the work you did during the Blackout cycle, and do not do this until you are at least 1 day past the Blackout cycle.

One effect of Blackout Cycles is that they will make you more error-prone both in your judgment, your computations, and in your speaking and writing. You WILL find errors in your logic or work and it is crucial that you find ALL errors before you move ahead. More

If you ordered a Success + Love Star-Timer you may also see some Blackout cycles labeled "Success (Only) Blackout." These cycles are unfavorable for business and career but are not Blackout cycles in personal matters.

If you are single and want to meet your soulmate

During Blackout cycles, you are very unlikely to meet your soulmate even if you also have Cinderella cycles, but take heart! Blackout cycles are an inevitable part of everyone's life.

It may seem depressing to see Blackout cycles on your Star-Timer, but think of it this way: knowing when new meetings would likely lead to heartbreak can save you from wasting months or years on someone that would ultimately be a serious disappointment or worse, and maybe missing your soulmate in the meantime.

Be patient and use your Blackout cycles to get ready for your Cinderella cycles. If you're hanging onto an old flame, a wishful relationship, or an unfulfilling relationship, release it now! Do whatever grieving you need to do – even if it really hurts. Release what didn't work so you're ready for something better. Don't miss your soulmate during your next Cinderella cycles because you're still holding onto something going nowhere. Remember – you don't have to let go of the dream you had for a bad or wishful relationship, you only have to let go of the reality! KEEP YOUR DREAM for when you meet your true soulmate.

Blackout cycles are the perfect time to work on your ability to be in a healthy, loving relationship: analyze old relationships to understand your part of what went wrong, get some therapy if you need it, read self-help books, work on your attitudes, learn better relationship skills. We all have some room for improvement in these areas. Physically, take this time to get in shape so you'll feel and look your best.

Thinking & Decision-Making Cycles Also see Nuclear and Blackout Cycles

Wisdom Cycles

Wisdom cycles are the times when your judgment is most clear and far-seeing. These are the best times to make crucial decisions for both your career and your personal life. During these cycles, your mind is calm and centered and you are most likely to receive Angelic guidance in your life.

Blunder Cycles

Blunder cycles incline us toward making mistakes, sometimes BIG mistakes. The Light Rust portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Blunder cycle indicates times when the blunders listed below are possible. Avoid natalizations during these cycles if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during a Blunder cycle, do it during the Light Rust portion.

The Dark Rust portion (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should take EXTREME care to avoid such blunders listed below, no matter how sure you are that your thinking is correct.

Blunder cycles are the worst possible cycles for making major decisions. Blunder cycles can make us think a new idea or insight is more true and right than what we've always thought. They can incline us to delude ourselves and even make it more likely to be deceived by others.

Your ability to plan wisely and do detailed work is also damaged during Blunder cycles. Re-check plans made and any work done with extra care during Blunder cycles – if you normally double-check, triple-check during these cycles. If at all possible, do a final re-check after the Blunder cycle is past.

Beware of any new insights or too-good-to-be-true deals that arrive during blunder cycles – especially if they fly in the face of common wisdom – they are very unlikely to be in your best interest.

The best advice during blunder cycles is this: stick to the tried and true – don't do anything unusual or untested; stick to the safest course – don't take risks or go out on a limb; stick to common sense – if an idea is generally considered to be a bad idea, don't do it; get "reality checks" from trusted, wise friends – see what they think; and LISTEN TO AND TAKE the good advice you get, don't ignore it! More

Popularity and Fame Cycles Also see Cinderella, Nuclear and Blackout Cycles

Super-Fame Cycles

Super-Fame cycles are times when you can most easily achieve fame and broad recognition. These are the best times to make public appearances, to schedule performances and auditions, to sign contracts related to fame and recognition such as with an agent or public relations firm, and to release movies, music, books or other creative materials.

Outcast Cycles

Outcast cycles are times when you are most likely to be disliked and to offend or alienate others. The Light Olive portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Outcast cycle indicates times when creating a bad impression on others is a real possibility. Avoid natalizations during these cycles if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during an Outcast cycle, do it during the Light Olive portion.

The Dark Olive portion of Outcast cycles (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should take EXTREME care with the actions and activities listed below- no matter what.

Outcast cycles are times when you have to work extra hard to avoid creating enmities and are the worst times for important new meetings, interviews, public appearances or releasing creative materials. During Outcast cycles, attempts to increase popularity or to ingratiate yourself with others often backfire, and the wisest course can be simply to maintain a low profile.

Even the most charming and charismatic people have to watch every word, gesture, and joke during these cycles since it is so easy to antagonize others. You can easily get blamed for things that aren't your fault, and no amount of logic will convince people you are right during these cycles. Put a smile on your face, be agreeable, don't make waves, say "I'm sorry" a lot, and don't take rejections personally. More

Health Cycles

As mentioned above, many cycles, such as Good and Bad Health cycles and Beauty and Ugly cycles below, require an understanding of the relative frequency with which they appear to avoid unnecessary pessimism and worry. Please read the relative number of Bad vs. Good cycles carefully – to have the clarity to use your Star-Timer effectively you must really understand the odds (the same for everyone) of seeing Bad vs. Good cycles.

Good Health Cycles

These are the times when vitality, good health and quick healing are most supported by the stars. These are the best times for first appointments with a new doctor, dentist or other health practitioner, the best times for diagnostic testing, and the best times to schedule any type of surgery or procedure, including dental work.

Bad Health Cycles

Bad Health cycles are the times when health and healing are NOT supported by the stars. These are the times to take extra care of your health day-to-day – eat wisely, exercise moderately and get plenty of rest. During bad health cycles, avoid any type of elective surgery or procedure, including dental work. These are the worst times for first appointments with a new doctor, dentist or other health practitioner and the worst times for diagnostic testing.

The Gray portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Bad Health cycle indicates times when elective health-related procedures are inadvisable. Avoid them if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during a Bad Health cycle, do it during the Gray portion. The Charcoal portion (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should avoid such actions and activities under any circumstances unless you truly have no choice.

There are 11 Good Health cycles and 18 Bad Health cycles, so it can be difficult to find a time when there are no Bad Health cycles at all. The key is to look for time periods with the maximum number of Good Health cycles and the fewest Bad Health cycles, especially the fewest Bad Health cycles in their power orb. More

Fertility Cycles

Fertility cycles are the times when a woman has the greatest likelihood of conceiving a child. Though there are many factors which influence the ability to conceive a child, using Fertility cycles allows a couple to add in one more helpful piece of the cosmic puzzle in their attempt to have a family.

Beauty Cycles

Beauty Cycles

Beauty cycles are the times when you look most radiant, attractive and photogenic. These are the best times for first appointments with a new hairdresser, aesthetician or other beauty specialist. These are the best times to schedule special events, public appearances and photo sessions. Beauty cycles are also the best times to schedule cosmetic procedures of all kinds including cosmetic dental work. These are the best times for salon appointments and for beginning new beauty products including skincare and makeup.

Unfortunately, there are only 4 Beauty cycles and all are short, so none of us have as many Beauty cycles as we might like. :(

“Ugly” Cycles

“Ugly” cycles are the times when you look your worst and should avoid all cosmetic procedures and cosmetic dental procedures. Avoid any important salon appointments and do not start any beauty-related products including skincare and makeup. Ugly cycles are the times when it’s just too easy to get “ugly” results! Ugly cycles are the worst times for first appointments with a new plastic surgeon, dermatologist, cosmetic dentist, hairdresser, aesthetician or other beauty specialist.

The Tan portion (transits outside the power orb) of the Ugly cycle indicates times when beauty-related activities are inadvisable. Avoid them if possible, but if something absolutely must be done during an Ugly cycle, do it during the Tan portion. The Brown portion (the power orb of a transit) indicates times when you should avoid such actions and activities under any circumstances.

There are only 4 short Beauty cycles and 9 Ugly cycles which can be fairly long - maybe this is why we all have so many "bad hair days." The key is to look for time periods with the maximum number of Beauty cycles and the fewest Ugly cycles, especially Ugly cycles in their power orb. More

Romance Cycles

Romantic Cycles

During Romantic cycles you are a starry-eyed romantic looking for love. You just may find it – but only if you ALSO have concurrent Cinderella Cycles. Romantic cycles create the yearning for love, but Cinderella Cycles are the times when you can really meet your soulmate. Romantic cycles can also inject greater romanticism into existing relationships.

Enjoy these cycles to the fullest but be very careful in making major decisions in your love life under their influence. Romantic cycles have a dark side. If you are single, you may feel such a yearning for love that you are willing to overlook too many negatives in a potential new flame. If you are in a basically good but no longer very romantic or exciting relationship, you may hunger so much for romance that you are willing to step outside the relationship to find it, or even end the relationship in the hope of finding more romance in a new relationship.

Be careful about your choices under Romantic cycles, especially if you have no concurrent Cinderella cycles or have concurrent Nuclear, Blunder or Blackout cycles! Otherwise you might wake up one day when the Romantic cycle is over and say to yourself, "What was I thinking???"

Good Sex Cycles

The best days to plan a vacation or seduction, or just get a babysitter. Good Sex cycles are times when both your libido and performance are at a peak.

Bad Sex Cycles

Bad Sex cycles are the worst times to plan a seduction or vacation. Some Bad Sex cycles kill your libido while others do not, but regardless of libido your ability to perform during Bad Sex cycles may be seriously challenged. Furthermore, even if you can muster a good performance, your enjoyment may be lessened or curtailed.

Bad Sex cycles create dissatisfaction with sex and even with your sexuality in general, and you may be tempted in unusual directions to try to find enjoyment. The downside of experimentation during Bad Sex cycles is that you may find it difficult or impossible to return to your normal sexual expression after these cycles pass, even if you want to.

If ordered. These are my personal picks for YOUR OWN very Best and Worst Days, considering all the personal cycles graphed on your Star-Timer. There may be many or few of each type of Magi's Picks. There are a number of factors considered for Magi's Picks. Ideally, your best Magi's Picks days are days when you have at least several good cycles with no negative cycles or at least none in the dark portion, but in any case they will be the best of the days available that month in your current Star-Timer.

Your worst Magi's Picks days are typically days when you have peaking negative cycles. My picks for your best days are "best available" not necessarily "great." I try to give you at least one best day per month if possible, but bear in mind that selections are relative to the quality of days available. One month's best days may be much stronger or weaker than another month's. Look at the numbers of positive and negative cycles graphed for that day to determine if a day is stronger or weaker than other Best days. Longer Star-Timers give a clearer perspective and more selection options for days which are truly great.

Star-Timer Strategies

General Strategies

You will see that many if not most days are mixed: that is, they have a combination of both positive and negative cycles – this is NORMAL.

Golden, Silver and Cinderella cycles are the best possible cycles for new beginnings, Blackout and Nuclear cycles are the worst. Wisdom cycles are best for making important decisions. When dealing with the public, use Cinderella and Super-Fame cycles, and avoid Blackout, Nuclear and Outcast cycles. Initiating the appropriate actions during the best cycles and avoiding any new beginnings during the worst cycles is the best way to use the stars to your advantage.

Positive Cycle Strategies

Positive cycles are when you can make dreams come true. When your stars are good, MOVE AHEAD. For the very most important actions we are looking for the "needle in a haystack" days which are far superior to the norm. For day-to-day actions, choose the best days available. It makes sense that super-powerful days are very rare – if all days were equally excellent, everyone would be a billionaire happily married to their soulmate!

On great days, don't just wait for things to happen – MAKE THEM HAPPEN. Don't just wait for great things to come your way, GO GET THEM. The times when you have the most positive cycles and the fewest negative ones are the times to fly high.

Look ahead to see times when your stars are especially good so you can be prepared to maximize them. Make lists and plans so you can get everything you need to do done during these powerful times.

Pay particular attention to the good cycles which specifically influence the areas of life where you want to create your successes – good cycles are for the most part not interchangeable. Success is built from utilizing the particular cycles which influence the relevant areas of your life.

There are two further refinements beyond this-

1. When possible, choose days as close to the end of positive cycles as possible, as cycles are strongest at the end.
2. When possible, choose days with the greatest number of longer cycles – again, longer cycles are more powerful than shorter cycles.

Negative Cycle Strategies

When your stars are truly bad, WAIT. Don't initiate anything important. Look ahead to see when your stars will be bad so you can get things done before bad cycles begin or wait until after bad stars pass.

Don't panic when you see negative cycles! Everyone has them. You've had them many times in the past – you just didn't know they were there. But even when you were in "blissful" ignorance of their presence, negative cycles were active in your life – these were the times you failed at something despite your best efforts, made a bad impression when trying to make a good one, met a heartbreak instead of a soulmate, or made a major blunder when you were trying to be wise.

It is seldom possible to avoid all negative cycles but try to avoid multiple negatives or negatives in the dark portion for the very most important new beginnings. If you MUST start something new or meet someone new during negative cycles:

1. Have as many concurrent favorable cycles as possible.
2. Do so as close to the beginning of the lighter-colored portion of that particular negative cycle as possible. Cycles are weakest at the beginning.
3. In terms of general weighting, the worst negative cycles are Blackout cycles, the 2nd worst are Nuclear cycles and the 3rd worst are Blunder cycles.
4. Beyond this, take note of HOW the negative cycle(s) involved relate to your planned natalization. Cycles may be of greater or lesser importance depending upon what in particular you want to do.

Negative cycles have several types of effects:

Internally, they can make you intermittently feel more depressed, confused, angry, pessimistic, vulnerable, tired or weepy. But don't think every day will be a bad day during bad cycles. It won't! However, if you have a bad day or even a bad week during negative cycles, at least you know it's due to the stars and won't blame yourself or something or someone else. Often, your emotional state will correlate even more strongly to the stars than to the situations in your life.

Outwardly, negative cycles make you less appealing to others and they can damage or destroy the things you begin under their negative influence. Your Star-Timer helps you with both types of effects. It helps you understand the times you aren't feeling your best emotionally and lets you know when you should begin to feel better. In your outer life, your Star-Timer helps you to know when you take greater care in your relationships with others and when to avoid any important new beginnings.

It's perfectly possible to enjoy life most days even during multiple negative cycles! It's all about attitude. Since you can't start anything new, these times are excellent for putting more emphasis on just relaxing and enjoying each day. If you adopt an attitude of patience rather than frustration you can do it. Take these times as a perfect opportunity to SLOW DOWN. Stop pushing yourself. Smell the roses, enjoy friends and family, cultivate your inner life and your spiritual life. Get more rest. Recharge your batteries. Express yourself creatively. Treasure every moment. It's never a good idea to put your life on hold until you get this or that anyway. Your life can be about more than just your trajectory toward your ambitions and dreams. Enjoy the blessings which are in your life RIGHT NOW.

Accept your negative cycles. Sometimes you will have more negative cycles, and sometimes you will have fewer. The key is to avoid major decisions and crucial new beginnings during these times. It makes sense that there are times to move ahead and times to wait if you want to achieve your dreams. All of nature works in cycles of expansion and contraction, with times of waiting in between. During negative cycles, keep your expectations realistic and don't worry or make yourself crazy. Use this time to prepare for your next wonderful window of opportunity.

Sometimes life requires us to be patient and wait longer than we would like to move forward, but when we haven't exhausted ourselves and our resources getting nowhere during unfavorable times, we can push ahead maximally when the stars change and begin to favor success. Realize that your knowledge of your negative cycles makes you one of the VERY FEW people who won't be unknowingly undermined by them.

Star-Timer Calendars allow you to truly understand the most effective way to apply timing in your life – the times to push ahead and the times to integrate, relax, and rest. With this knowledge you can live life fully in the moment AND find the precious windows of time in your life when you can make your dreams come true!

Combining Personal Cycles with Best & Worst Days

Don't just choose days based on your personal cycles, ALSO choose days which generally have the power to support your efforts and avoid days which will destroy them. You must use a combination of your personal Star-Timer cycles AND Magi Best and Worst Days.

Your personal Star-Timer shows your personal cycles.

Magi Best and Worst Days use complex analyses to give you the very most powerful days in general.

About Magi Best and Worst Days: Magi Best and Worst Days are “best and worst” not “good and bad.” Therefore, each month's selections are relative to that month's quality of days available. Magi Days which are not listed as either best or worst are considered neutral/mixed days.

Make your choices for your most important new initiatives and new meetings in the following order of preference:

1. Positive & relevant personal cycles and a Magi Best Day.
2. Positive relevant personal cycles with a Magi neutral day.
3. Neutral personal stars, Magi Best Day.
4. A mixed day for you (as described above), Magi Best Day.

When you MUST start something or meet someone new on a lesser day, wait for no worse than:

5. Neutral personal stars, Magi neutral day.

If you must choose any option other than option 1 above, there may be a way to “undo” or re-natalize your new beginning. Please email me for more information.

Whenever possible, avoid any new beginning on a horrible personal day and/or a Magi Worst Day.

Important Note: Combining your personal Star-Timer Calendars with Magi Best and Worst Days is excellent for all day-to-day timing decisions. However, it does not factor in many of the necessary elements for a Super-Success Incorporation Date, a Magical Wedding Date or Renewal of Vows Date, a Healthy & Beautiful surgery date or other crucial dates. Such crucial dates include: partnership agreement dates, employment dates, domain purchase dates, website launch dates, bank or brokerage account dates, mortgage signing dates, product launch dates, artistic release dates, and the date you meet someone vitally important for the first time. To be properly chosen, these dates must factor in many complex elements in the date itself as well as your personal cycles. Please do not use your Star-Timer as a substitute for a professionally-chosen Custom Date for such all-important dates! How to know if you need a Custom Date
